

hi-Call: the first, unique and inimitable Bluetooth glove that connects to your smartphone allowing you to make phone calls like you never did before!

hi-Call is a glove that allows you to use your hand like a telephone handset and make phone calls through a microphone and an earpiece sewn into the little finger and thumb of the left glove. The one-button system lets you answer and end calls without removing the glove or using the keypad of your phone. Moreover, hi-Call vibrates alerting you for each incoming call! You can use it when you do sports, while skiing or walking and in every situation where you do not want to suffer the cold!
